

Laterlife planning legal services

Whether you are looking to the future yourself - planning for retirement and the challenges of later life - or seeking to support family members at this crucial time, B P Collins will assist you in safeguarding yourself and your assets.

The common thread throughout all of our advice is planning and protection.

The legal issues affecting older people, their families and carers are rapidly evolving and becoming increasingly complex.

Often decisions which have been taken in good faith can have unintended ramifications later in life. Early, sensitive, professional and specialist advice can mitigate or prevent problems from arising.

Choosing the right solicitor to help you make a better plan for the future is critical - someone who will provide reliable advice and understands that when decisions need to be made, they must be your decisions, whilst helping you to understand the consequences of those decisions.

Members of our private client team are experts in advising elderly clients, their carers and families. We advise those with life limiting illnesses or who are permanently incapacitated; whether they are being cared for at home, in hospital or in a care home or hospice.

This firm continues to set the gold standard for private client work in the Thames Valley. Interviewees especially praise the lawyers' dedication to client care: 'They are excellent because they provide a very personal service and cater specifically to our needs.'
